NOTED EDUCATORS IN SESSION

ATTEND DISPUTATIONS IN THEOLOGY AND PHILOSOPHY.

Theologians and Students of the Catholic Church Hold Public Meeting at Woodstock.

WOODSTOCK, Md., April 23.—A noted gathering of college presidents and educators was at Woodstock College yesterday to attend the public disputations in theology and philosophy. Rev. Herbert J. Parker, S.J., a native of Philadelphia, defended the entire treatises technically known as "De Verbo Incarnato et De Beata Virgine Maria," while Mr. John P. Meagher, S.J., of Washington, D.C., defended fifty theses "De Universa Philosophia." The disputations were carried on in Latin and according to the usual scholastic methods. Those who objected against the theological theses were Very Rev. M. A. Waldron, O.P., professor of moral theology and the history of philosophy at the Dominican College of the Immaculate Conception, Washington, D.C.; Rev. A.

Viehan, S.S., professor of dogmatic theology at St. Mary's Theological Seminary, Baltimore; Rev. G. Sauvage, C.S.C., professor of dogma and canon law at the Holy Cross College, Washington, D.C.; and Rev. Dominic Giacobbi, S.J., associate editor of America, New York city. Against the theses in philosophy were Very Rev. Edward A. Pace, Ph.D., S.T.D., professor of philosophy at the Catholic University, Washington, D.C.; Rev. Edward F. X. McSweeney, M.A., S.T.D., professor of moral theology and history at Mount St. Mary's Seminary, Emmitsburg, Md.; Rev. Francis P. Siegfried, professor of philosophy at St. Charles Borromeo Seminary, Overbrook, Philadelphia; and Rev. Thomas J. Gasson, S.J., president of Boston College.

Many From Washington.
Besides the above named objectors there was present a large gathering of clergy and laymen from Washington, Baltimore and New York. Conspicuous among the visitors were Rev. Joseph F. Hanselman, professor of Maryland-New York Province of the Society of Jesus; Edward H. Griffin, D.D., LL.D., professor of history of philosophy and dean of the college faculty of Johns Hopkins University; Rev. John T. Hedrick, S.J., director of the astronomical observatory at Georgetown University, and the following college presidents: Very Rev. E. R. Dyer, S.S., of St. Mary's Seminary and University, Baltimore; Very Rev. Dennis J. Flynn of Mount St. Mary's Seminary, Emmitsburg; Rev. Henry T. Drumgoole of St. Charles Seminary,

Philadelphia; Very Rev. A. P. Doyle, C.S.P., of the Catholic Missionary Union, Catholic University, Washington, D.C.; Rev. Joseph J. Himmel, S.J., of Georgetown University, and Rev. Thomas J. McCluskey, S.J., of St. Francis Xavier's College, New York city.

Higher Studies for Jesuits.
The College of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, more commonly known as Woodstock College, is the house of higher studies for the Jesuit order in the eastern section of the United States, and is situated at Woodstock, Md. Since its foundation, in 1880, it has won fame by the number and excellence of public disputations in the field of theology and philosophy. The first student to give a public defense was Rev. R. J. Meyer, S.J., the present provincial of the Jesuit province of Missouri. In 1880 Rev. George De La Motte, present superior of the California and Rocky Mountain missions of the Society of Jesus, gave a public defense of theses, "Ex Universa Theologia." Last year Rev. John T. Langman, S.J., and Rev. Richard H. Tierney, S.J., respectively, defended against all comers the entire theses, "De Ecclesia" and "De Deo Uno et Trino." Rev. Anthony Maas, S.J., is president of the college and Rev. Timothy Brosnahan is prefect of studies.

It matters little what it is that you want—whether a situation or a servant—a want ad. in The Star will reach the person who can fill your need.

DUG FROM THE GRAVE

Dust of L'Enfant Removed From Riggs Farm.

NEW TOMB IN ARLINGTON

To Be Reinterred After Fitting Ceremonies at the Capitol.

BUT LITTLE OF BODY FOUND

A Few Bones All That Remains of Frenchman Who Planned the City of Washington.

Preparatory to burial in the Arlington national cemetery alongside the graves of those the people of the nation delight to honor, the remains of Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, who planned the National capital, were disinterred from their resting place on the Riggs farm, west of Hyattsville, yesterday afternoon. From the unmarked and almost obliterated grave in a secluded spot, little known to the people who take pride in the National capital's beauty, the dust of the famous engineer will be taken to a burial spot overlooking the seat of the nation's government, over which will rise a handsome memorial to mark for the ages the final resting place.

The disinterment of the remains was conducted without ceremonies of any kind. It was witnessed by only a small group of officials of the District government and descendants of the families who have owned the farm since Maj. L'Enfant's burial there nearly eighty years ago. The party was headed by Henry B. F. Macfarland, president of the board of the District Commission, and Dr. William Tindall, secretary to the board. As Commissioner H. L. West was ill yesterday and Engineer Commissioner William F. Judson was finishing up the work of his office preparatory to an official trip to Boston, they were unable to be present.

Work Done by Experts.

Others in the party were Dr. James W. Morgan, grandson of Dudley Digges, with whom Maj. L'Enfant lived during the last years of his life, and who took charge of the burial ceremonies four score years ago; George Howard, grandson of George W. Riggs, who purchased the farm from the Digges family; Herbert Claude, grandson of Francis Scott Key, the author of "The Star Spangled Banner"; Gist Blair, Clarence Moore, John F. Wilkins and Nathaniel Simkins. The disinterment was directed by D. H. Rhoades of the quartermaster general's office of the War Department, who has supervised the exhumation of thousands of bodies. On account of the long time which has passed since the body was first interred it was the desire of the Commissioner, who have the transfer in charge, to have the remains disinterred as early as possible.

A tall cedar, planted probably at the time of Maj. L'Enfant's burial, marked the grave and stood as its headstone. Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon workmen, under the direction of Mr. Rhoades, began to clear away the tree which had overgrown the grave and to expose the site of the same. The tree was soon pulled down, and as the digging continued it was noticed that the remains of the body were not in the area such as would be dug out for a grave. Although over eighty years had passed since the grave was dug and filled in again, it never reached the same depth as the earth around it, and that indicated immediately the resting place of the remains was sought by the party.

A thunderstorm interrupted the operations for twenty minutes after the ground had been broken, and then the work was begun again. By 5 o'clock the grave continued in silence for an hour or more.

Outlines of Coffin Visible.

A straight line of black earth, sharply contrasting to the yellow clay that had so far been found, was discovered at the depth of about four feet and a half. Then the shovel was used cautiously, the object being to trace out the line of black earth. As the dirt was carefully removed the outline of the coffin was visible. It was marked that it proved conclusively to the party that the resting place of Maj. L'Enfant had been found.

From the wagon of the quartermaster general's department was removed the coffin, which contained a new metal key and chain, and the remains of the body were placed in a new casket. The bones and blackened earth that were found inside the limits indicated by the black earth were placed in a separate casket. The original casket were carefully placed in the coffin, an hour being required for the transfer.

When the cover had been replaced on the coffin, and it in turn replaced in the varnished wooden case, a huge American flag was wrapped around it and the transfer to Mount Olivet cemetery began. Commissioner Macfarland and Dr. Tindall accompanied the remains to the cemetery, where the coffin was placed in a receiving vault to await its transfer to the rotunda of the Capitol next Wednesday morning.

Services at the Capitol.

The remains will lie in state in the rotunda from 9 until 12 o'clock Wednesday morning. At 10:30 o'clock funeral services will be conducted, at which Vice President Sherman and Ambassador Jusserand will speak. With a military and an honorary escort, the remains will then be carried to Arlington cemetery to be reinterred. The former grave of Maj. L'Enfant is at the head of the Riggs road, which begins at Rock Creek Church road near the Woodburn schoolhouse and ends in front of the mansion behind which Maj. L'Enfant was buried. It is about eight miles from the heart of the city of Washington.

Maj. L'Enfant was born in Paris August 2, 1754, and came to America in 1777. He served with other French soldiers in the Continental army. He received a commission as captain of engineers in 1778, and was made a brevet major by a special resolution of Congress, May 2, 1783.

In 1801 Gen. Washington selected Maj. L'Enfant to plan the new national capital, the national district a capital city. The national district selected the site of the Capitol on a high eminence in the District and later the site of the city of Washington.

Maj. L'Enfant chose the quarry from which the stone was taken to build the original portion of the Capitol, and in the structure built with that stone will be held the memorial services next Wednesday.

War Department Orders.

Orders have been issued at the War Department for a military escort to accompany the remains of Maj. L'Enfant from the rotunda of the Capitol to Arlington cemetery. The order is made by Maj. Gen. Wood, in charge of the Department of the East, and is as follows:

"In compliance with instructions from the War Department, dated April 19, 1909, an escort, consisting of the 1st Squadron, 15th Cavalry, and the 2d Battalion, 3d Field Artillery, from Fort Myer, Va., and two companies of the 2d Battalion of Engineers, organized into four provisional companies, from Washington barracks, District of Columbia, all under command of Col. Joseph Garrard, 15th Cavalry, will assemble at the east front of the Capitol, Washington, D.C., at 11:30 o'clock a.m., April 23, 1909, for the purpose of accompanying the remains of Brevet Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, Continental Army, to Arlington National cemetery, for reinterment.

Col. Garrard will communicate direct with Commissioner Henry B. F. Macfarland, president of the board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, as to the details of the ceremonies.

Col. Garrard is also charged with seeing that a caisson, suitably caparisoned, in charge of an escort of honor composed

CHASE BEHIND REALTY DEAL.

Theater Man Secures Half of Block Near Municipal Building.

A deed was recorded yesterday conveying a piece of property in the square on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue between 13th and 13½ streets to A. M. McLauchlin, to whom a large proportion of transfers recently made in that square have been recorded. The series of transactions thus concluded practically covers the whole of the western portion of this square from 13½ street to the property of the Southern Railway Company.

No consideration has been mentioned in any instance, but in most cases the buyers have taken deeds of trust for good amounts. It is now understood that the buying has been completed and that the ownership of the entire holding has been transferred to the persons representing the purchaser or purchasers.

It is supposed, in the course of a few days, all the various pieces of property will be transferred to one owner, but it is also said that the name of the person who will take title will not be that of the real purchaser. It is now said that the money used in acquiring all this property has been furnished by P. B. Chase, the proprietor of the theater in this city of that name.

It is concluded that it is the intention of Mr. Chase at some time to utilize the property as a site for a building for his business, which is now located on the second square to the west of the block where the recent series of purchases have been made.

The former square is one of those which is now being valued by a commission appointed under the condemnation proceedings instituted by the government for the acquisition of this property.

Moore, Mrs. Morgan Washburn and Miss Elsie England, Miss England and Mrs. Dorsey won prizes.

PIPE LINE INTO OCEAN.

Company at Santa Barbara Receives Permit From War Department.

Acting Secretary Oliver of the War Department has issued a permit to the Union Oil Company of California, to build a pipe line from its works at Santa Barbara, 2,000 feet into the Pacific ocean and to erect a dolphin at the outer end for the purpose of pumping the oil into ships. This action was based on opinions rendered by the Attorney General of the United States and the Judge advocate general of the army that there was no legal objection to such action by the government unless it was evident that the proposed structure was an obstruction to navigation. The engineers of the War Department reported that the structure would not interfere with navigation. The citizens of Santa Barbara made a strong protest against the issue of the permit on the ground that the proposed pipe line would prove a public nuisance and would seriously impair the attractiveness of that ocean city.

Taft's Naval Aid Improving.

It was stated at the Naval General Hospital today that the condition of Lieut. Semmes Read, naval aid to President Taft, who was injured several months ago as a result of being thrown from his horse in Rock Creek Park, is considerably improved. The physicians at the hospital say the patient's condition continues to grow better each day and although he is not expected to fully recover from his injuries, it is not thought he will lose permanently the use of his limbs, which were paralyzed, as was first supposed.

A French company, Clement-Bayard, was the first to go into the sole business of building airships, and the second concern of this character is to be in the United States.

The Stock Exchange.

There is a stock exchange in every city that has a newspaper, no matter how small it may be. That stock exchange in Washington is the WANT AD COLUMNS of The Star.

Turn back to The Star want ad page; note the kinds of live stock that are to be sold or exchanged today.

If you want a horse or a cow there is no better market to which you can go.

If you have a horse or cow to sell you can get more for it in this market, because there will be more buyers.

An auction sale will often bring more money than a private sale, because people then bid against one another.

So don't try to sell your horse or cow to your neighbor and let him set the price; sell it through The Star want ad columns and set the price yourself—the more offers the higher the price. Test this for yourself.
